Pack Your Bags

1

What did you bring with you today, literally or figuratively, that you could have left behind? (This is where you get to draw something.)

Tell Me What You Think

3

Tell me what you think about the talk. Tweet with #LifeKerning.

The Social Butterfly

4

How well have you networked with people at the conference? Do you want to? Should you? Grade yourself.

A B C D F E (for effort)

Question of Philosophy

5

The age old question? Which will it be?

Kern Your Timeline

6

Where were you the most productive, interested, challenged and fulfilled? How about the opposite? What is taking your time from you? What would you do with that time if it wasn’t being sucked away? Don’t be intimidated by the curved line, balance is nothing more than a state of mind.

We can call it a lot of things, but there is only one that matters.

Note Taking

2

You know you’re going to need some space to write something.

What did you bring with you today, literally or figuratively, that you could have left behind? (This is where you get to draw something.)
Making life decisions are some of the most difficult choices we will make. So let’s have some fun making choices that don’t involve our own lives.

If you have no questions, then you must know everything. (Ask me at least one.)

Where can you have better focus and understanding?

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Work</th>
<th>Not Work</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

What does a project need in order for you to accept it?

Name 3-5 people you think would make great advisors.

Who would you rather work for: Steve Jobs or Bill Gates?